Haipong Harbor
Sealed Off,
Observers Say6 Bridges
Knocked Out
by Bombers

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Times reported Anthony Lewis writes from Hanoi that the consensus of foreign observers now is that the American mining has effectively closed North Vietnam's ports.

In a dispatch to The Times last week, Lewis quoted a Haiphong official as saying the mines were being cleared and ship traffic was unimpeded.

The Pentagon categorically denied that report.

Lewis wrote in today's Times that from the shreds of evidence available now, diplomats and others "believe it highly unlikely that ships are able to enter or leave the major harbors."

He said some observers believe the North Vietnamese are sweeping the mines in Haiphong's inner harbor at night.

But he said North Vietnamese officials say more mines are being sowed.

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. fighter-bombers destroyed six bridges on North Vietnam's northwest railway line to China and set off five large secondary explosions in an attack on the transformer station that supplies power to military installations in the Hanoi area, the U.S. Command announced today.

In the ground war, South Vietnamese forces reportedly repulsed new attacks on the northern defense line at the My Chanh river and on An Loc, 60 miles north of Saigon. But much guerrilla fighting was reported in the Mekong delta 45 miles southeast of Saigon, and Viet Cong forces there were reported to have seized about 30 per cent of Dat Do, a district capital.

Reports Bus
Traveling In Wrong Lane

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A Greyhound bus involved in a collision with a tractor-trailer truck May 13 that killed 14 persons was 10 feet over the center line, the Tennessee Safety Department has reported.

The official Highway Patrol report on the wreck, which occurred on U.S. 11W in Grainger County, gave no indication why the bus was traveling in the wrong lane. The report, released Monday, said the accident occurred at 5:40 a.m. on a dry, straight stretch of highway.

The speed of both vehicles was unknown, the report concluded, and no skid marks were found at the wreck scene. The report did say, however, that the truck driver should have been able to see ahead 900 feet on the highway and the bus driver 1,150 feet.

Spring
Weather
Over Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bally spring weather persisted over most of the nation today, with clear skies and low humidity favoring many areas.

Except for cool conditions in the Northwest, the nation remained pleasantly locked into a pattern of warm or mild daytime temperatures.

The one jarring note on the weather map was a series of showers and thunderstorms stretching from Minnesota and the Dakotas to Oklahoma. The storms produced some flash flooding and several tornadoes in parts of Nebraska, but died away by midnight.

The House agreed with the Commerce Committee chairman, accepting his committee's bill by a vote of 254 to 38. That bill directs the Transportation Department to set front and rear bumper standards aimed at saving motorists billions of dollars in car repair costs.

The Senate passed a more comprehensive bill last November by a vote of 89 to 4. Their measure would set federal standards covering the whole vehicle.

The Nixon administration opposes both versions. Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe says the legislation "would interject the government inappropriately into the marketplace."

The legislation also is attacked by automakers.

While the bumper-standards bill contains no specific speed figure, Stagers said he expected such standards "would initially be expressed in terms of a vehicle's performance in five-mile-per-hour fixed barrier impacts."

The legislation would cover vehicles made in, or imported into, the United States. While the bill makes it mandatory that bumper standards be set, it designates no specific target date.

Other provisions are similar in both bills. These include setting up a consumer information program for vehicle comparison on repair costs and damage susceptibility, creating at least five automobile diagnostic centers on a pilot basis, and putting curbs on the practice of tampering with a car's odometer.

Witnesses
Put on for Angela Davis

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — A former roommate says Angela Davis exclaimed "Oh, no!" when she learned that her guns had probably been used in a bloody courthouse shooting.

Valerie Mitchell, who also uses the Swahili name of Tamu, was one of six witnesses who opened the defense's case Monday in the trial of Miss Davis, a 28-year-old black Communist charged with murder, kidnap and conspiracy in connection with the Aug. 7, 1970, shootings in which four persons died.

She is accused of furnishing Jonathan Jackson, one of the victims, four guns and helping him plot the courthouse invasion. The state contends she was in love with Jonathan's older brother, convict George Jackson, and was driven by passion to free him from San Quentin Prison.

The defense's decision to call witnesses ended speculation it would rest without having a single person testify in behalf of Miss Davis. It also provided the first defense account of her whereabouts during the days before the shootout, when the state claims she was plotting the courthouse invasion.

Mrs. Mitchell, also a black Communist, testified that Miss Davis left two carbines and a Browning automatic pistol in a gun rack at her apartment for use by members of the Che Lumumba Club, a group of all-black Communist activists in Los Angeles.

Miss Davis moved out of the apartment in July 1970, but left the gun rack in a closet so that Mrs. Mitchell and other members could use the weapons for target practice, the witness testified.

On Saturday, Aug. 1, 1970, Mrs. Mitchell said Jonathan Jackson came to her apartment and asked to make copies of some material because she had a copying machine and paper there.

Mrs. Mitchell said that she left Jackson alone while she ran errands and that when she returned, he was gone.

A week later—on Aug. 8, 1970—Mrs. Mitchell said Miss Davis and Franklin Alexander, a member of the Che Lumumba Club and now the co-chairman of the National United Committee to Free Angela Davis, came to her apartment "and they seemed to be quite concerned and excited."

WASHINGTON (AP) — A compromise that would delay final congressional action on fiscal aid for states and cities was in the making today after proponents of the bill won a narrow victory in the House Rules Committee.

The committee voted, 8 to 7, to clear the $5.3-billion measure for House action with bans on amendments or parliamentary challenges.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Md., said in an interview he called "the measure Wednesday, as planned, and would not object to a fundamental modification.

An effort to ram the measure through Wednesday would have led to a bruising fight to overturn the Rules Committee recommendation and, in the opinion of some backers, would have endangered the bill itself.

Mills said the bill probably will be brought up for House action early in June.

This would allow time for the modifications to be worked out and votes to be lined up.

Dissident Ways and Means members and others want to offer amendments closing what they call tax loopholes.

On the eve of the Rules Committee showdown, Chairman George H. Mahon of the Appropriations Committee stepped up his attack with a "dear colleague" letter to all House members.

Mahon objects to provisions which would strip his committee and others of their traditional power to approve or deny funds for various federal aid programs on a year-by-year basis.

The weekly report from Hope City Police shows seven traffic violations, one license violation, three liquor violation, five drunkenness, six driving while intoxicated, two disturbing the peace, and one failure to answer summons. There were five accidents during the week. Total accidents for the year is 124 with 11 injuries and no fatalities.

Russia and U.S.
Find Agreement

Plays Up
Nixon VisitBy STEPHENS BROENING
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet press today front-paged the beginning of President Nixon's official visit here, said things had gotten off to a "businesslike and frank" start and reinforced the impression that the Moscow summit would produce an agreement to limit strategic nuclear arms.

Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, published the full text of the American president's speech at a Kremlin banquet Monday night. The rest of the controlled press printed summaries, with some interesting omissions.

All the Moscow papers carried page one photographs of Nixon at the airport with Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny and the U.S. President seated across from Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev with two long rows of empty chairs receding in the background behind them. Nobody is smiling in the photographs.

Equally deadpan were headlines over the accounts of Nixon's arrival and private meeting with Brezhnev before the banquet. Pravda's headline writer wrote: "Visit Of The President Of The United States Of America" and "Meeting Of L.I. Brezhnev With R. Nixon."

A sharp contrast is provided by the Pravda of Oct. 7, 1970, reporting the arrival of French President Georges Pompidou, the last Western chief of state to visit the Soviet Capital. "Friendly Visit Begins," Pravda proclaimed, "Moscow Gives Warm Welcome to President Of France G. Pompidou."

In the Pravda picture of Pompidou, the French president is smiling, Podgorny is beaming, Brezhnev's heavy face is split into a laugh and even the taciturn Premier Alexei N. Kosygin is attempting a grin.

Today's papers did not report that more than 100,000 Soviets turned out without official encouragement Monday to glimpse the Nixon motorcade as it streaked from the airport to the Kremlin.

Elsewhere in Pravda, the Soviets hinted strongly that among constructive results—as U.S. officials have indicated—will be an agreement on limiting the number of American and Russian strategic weapons.

The Hope Jaycees will have a special meeting Wednesday, May 24, at 7 p.m. in the Arts and Crafts Building in Fair Park. All members are urged to attend.

Grant
Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $679,580 grant has been approved by the Federal Highway Administration to repair the bridge on U. S. 70 at DeValls Bluff, according to the office of Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark.

The bridge has been closed since February when one of the pilings under the main structure slipped, making it too hazardous for cars to cross the bridge.

Education
Bill Strong in Senate Only

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today debates the compromise $18.5-billion higher-education bill with its antibusing riders that could slow school desegregation.

Sponsors said they were confident the Senate would pass the mammoth bill, perhaps after only a day of debate, and send it to the House.

Opposition appears to be much stronger in the House, which plans to delay action on the measure until after the Memorial Day recess.

Strong support is generated for the bill by its landmark provisions for aiding college students and all the nation's institutions of higher education.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield told his colleagues that if they reject the compromise they will not get another chance to vote the higher-education benefits.

But the busing riders are the center of attention.

The antibusing provisions in the compromise bill are stronger than in the Senate version but considerably weaker than those voted earlier by the House.

Three civil-rights activists among the 12 Senate conferees refused to sign the conference report on the bill. They are Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y.

They criticized the busing rider, which would prevent any court busing orders from taking effect until all appeals had been exhausted. This was a House provision accepted by the majority of the Senate conferees.

However, many liberals and moderates supported the final product despite the busing provisions.

Jury Ruling Is Landmark in U.S. Law

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The unanimous jury, a keystone of the American judicial tradition, has been judged constitutionally unnecessary for state criminal trials by the Supreme Court.

The 5-4 decision Monday was produced by President Nixon's four appointees plus Justice Byron R. White. It is symbolic of a changing mood and a changing court.

The ruling basically approves convicting a defendant by a less-than-unanimous vote in state trial courts throughout the land. The ruling is not binding on federal or civil cases because Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr. ruled the 6th Amendment demands a unanimous verdict for federal courts.

The decision prompted one of the dissenters, Justice William O. Douglas, to observe, "After today's decision, a man's property may only be taken away by a unanimous jury vote yet he can be stripped of his liberty by a lesser standard."

The high court also ruled 5-2 that the 5th Amendment does not shield coerced witnesses from all prosecution. Justice Powell, writing for the majority, said it is enough to grant such witnesses immunity from prosecution based only on what they told the grand jury or on "leads" from their testimony.

Justices Thurgood Marshall and Douglas dissented. In a third ruling, the court cleared the way for integration of Minneapolis's all-white fire department by upholding a lower court ruling that 20 of the next 60 firemen hired must be members of a minority group.

The court also granted a hearing to a small electrical company charged with monopolizing retail electrical energy distribution to parts of rural Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota. And it turned aside an appeal by WHDH, Inc., to reopen Federal Communications Commission hearings on a switch of ownership of Boston's Channel 5 to Boston Broadcasters, Inc.

Gallup Poll Favors McGovern

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP)—Sen. George McGovern would run slightly better than Sen. Hubert Humphrey as a Democratic challenger to President Nixon, according to two nationwide surveys taken by the Gallup Poll.

The President, however, continues to hold a wide though reduced lead over both McGovern and Humphrey, the Gallup Poll said Sunday.

In the latest Gallup survey, completed in early May, Nixon holds an 8-point lead over McGovern and an 11-point lead over Sen. Humphrey.

"But this difference cannot be considered statistically significant," according to the Gallup Poll.

Irish Wives Revolt Against Violence

BELEFAST (AP) — The threat of a revolt by Roman Catholic housewives enraged by the vigilante justice of the Irish Republican Army has sharpened the rivalry between the two factions of the IRA and endangered the guerrillas' hold on Catholic districts of Londonderry.

Two hundred angry women marched on an IRA headquarters in the Bogside district of Londonderry Monday, protesting the underground army's execution of a young Irish soldier in the British Army. The women threatened to open the barricaded areas of Northern Ireland's second largest city to British troops.

"This is murder and we are sick of it," a leader of the demonstration shouted. She was referring to the death last week-end of 19-year-old William Best. The young Catholic soldier, home on leave from his unit in Germany, was tried by the Official wing of the IRA as a traitor, hooded and shot. The woman said he had been tortured.

Scuffling broke out between the IRA men and the women, some of whom were pushing baby carriages and others carrying their children.

The Provisional wing of the IRA, known as the Provos, seized on the women's anger and demanded that the leftist Officials get out of Free Derry, as the IRA-controlled Bogside and Creggan districts of Londonderry are called.

"We don't want any gunmen in here," said one militant woman, "not the Officials, not the Provos, and not the British Army. We want peace."

The women threatened to tear down the barricades the IRA has thrown up around Free Derry and call in the British Army to clean out the guerrillas.

The traditionalist Provisionals and the Marxist Officials have long been divided over the tactics to use against the British in Northern Ireland and over ideology. The Provos took the lead in the campaign of violence, and the Officials now are trying to catch up. The Provos favor a country run by businessmen and priests, as the Irish Republic is now, while the Officials want socialism.

Meanwhile, guerrillas ambushed a car in the country town of Drumenny, killing a man as he was driving his daughter and her fiancée to the priest to arrange their wedding. It was believed the shooting was a mistake. It was the 334th death recorded in the three years of communal warfare in Northern Ireland.

Prime Minister Jack Lynch of the neighboring republic took his toughest stand so far against the IRA, warning that he would seek new laws if necessary to stop the guerrillas using the republic as a staging base for attacks in Northern Ireland.

McGovern Favored to Win R.I. Delegates

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
AP Political Writer

While Sen. Hubert Humphrey looks ahead to the June 6 California primary, Sen. George McGovern has raised his sights in Tuesday's Oregon test, in which he is heavily favored to add to his first place total of Democratic National Convention delegates.

"It would be a wonderful thing" if his Oregon percentage surpasses the 52 per cent he amassed four weeks ago in the Massachusetts primary, the South Dakotan told cheering campaign workers at his Portland headquarters Sunday night.

Humphrey, in effect conceding a McGovern victory in Oregon, decided against campaigning there to concentrate on California, where all 271

Coleman Makes Grassroots Effort for Congress

By BILL SIMMONS
Associated Press Writer

MCGEEHEE, Ark. (AP) — Jack Coleman, 27, of McGehee has headed probably the most underfinanced, understaffed effort for the 4th Congressional District Democrat nomination this year.

That was not necessarily by design, he says. But he adds that it does reflect his grassroots effort and his pledge to avoid vested interests and to "return Congress to the people."

At political events, the "Coleman bucket" is passed and the dimes and dollars have generally been sufficient to just cover his campaign expenses, he said.

At the start, Coleman figured the campaign would cost a minimum of $50,000. He also figured to make up is personal effort for the lack of additional dollars.

More recently he has complained that pressure groups in the South Arkansas district have subtly undercut his financing and have made some of his supporters reluctant to be openly identified with him.

The congressional race is his second political venture. The first, several years ago, was a bid for president of the state Young Democrats. He lost.

Coleman subsequently was employed outside Arkansas. A native of Lonoke, he was based in Washington, D.C., when he began to publicly express interest in joining the congressional race.

He officially changed his place of residence to McGehee, which is in the district. Lonoke is not.

Coleman went on a two-week goodwill tour of Eastern Canada. He said he was promoting South Arkansas' agricultural products. He also said that his farming background would make him the candidate most beneficial to farmers in the district.

He is the only bachelor in the race and the only nonlawyer. Coleman was first to announce, but last to file for the position vacated by Rep. David Pryor, D-Ark.

During the campaign it developed that Coleman never had paid all of a fine assessed against him in 1967 on charges of overdraft and contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

He subsequently paid the remaining $152 of the fine. The arrest, Coleman said, stemmed from a political fight among the Young Democrats at that time and the charges were "trumped up." He was a 22-year-old University of Arkansas student when arrested at a party at his Fayetteville residence.

Coleman characterized himself as the agricultural candidate and declared that the two chief issues in the campaign would be improving the agricultural climate and gaining additional industries.

Later, he said the No. 1 issue was becoming campaign spending. "My books are going to be open to the public or anyone else," Coleman said.

He suggested at one point that restrictions on air and water pollution by industries ought not to be so stringent.

On other issues, Coleman: —Endorsed the proposed women's rights amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

—Said he would support a proposed state constitutional amendment to reorganize county government.

—Expressed opposition to busing to achieve racial balance in public schools.

—Said middle America paid too much in taxes to finance such things as "an unpopular war in Vietnam."

—Called for the setting of a date for withdrawal of all American troops in Vietnam concurrent with the release of Americans held as prisoners of war in connection with the conflict in Southeast Asia.

—Endorsed proposed legislation to compensate innocent victims for damages resulting from crime.

—Supports completion of a dam at Gilham on the Cossatot River.

—Backs construction of the Dorcheat Bayou project dam near Magnolia.

Arnold Inherits Political Interest

By ROBERT SHAW
Associated Press Writer

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Richard S. Arnold, a Texarkana lawyer running for Congress from the 4th District, claims to come by his penchant for public service naturally.

His maternal great grandfather, John L. Sheppard, was a congressman from Texas, serving a district that included Texarkana, Texas.

His maternal grandfather, Morris Sheppard, was a Texas congressman who, in 1913, was elected to the U. S. Senate, serving 28 years.

His paternal grandfather, W. H. Arnold, was a delegate to the Arkansas Constitutional Convention of 1917.

"That doesn't prove that I'm qualified to serve, but it sort of explains how I got interested in politics," said Arnold. "I inherited the interest. And I've wanted to be a congressman since I was five."

Arnold and three others—Atty. Gen. Ray Thornton, El Dorado lawyer Richard Mays and Jack Coleman of McGehee—are seeking the Democratic nomination in the May 30 primary for the congressional position that Rep. David Pryor is vacating in his quest for the U. S. Senate seat held by John L. McClellan.

Arnold brings to the race credentials that include graduation at the top of his class from Yale College and Harvard Law School, a year as law clerk to Justice William J. Brennan of the U. S. Supreme Court, three years' practice in the largest law firm in Washington, D.C., a successful practice in the family firm in Texarkana, service as a delegate to the state constitutional convention of 1970 and chairmanship of the state Democratic party's Rules Committee, a job in which his chief concern was to bring the party into com-

Robbery Suspect Arrested

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Police in Memphis arrested a man Monday night who was wanted in connection with a Little Rock robbery Monday afternoon. The man apparently had taken two hostages, one last week in Dallas, Tex., and another at Little Rock during the robbery.

Memphis police said the Texas woman was freed after the arrest. The other woman had been kicked out of the car earlier at Quitman. Both women were believed unharmed.

The man was tentatively identified as Ronald J. Campbell, 26, who had been convicted for the 1969 robbery of the same branch of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association that was robbed here Monday afternoon in which $6,000 was reported taken.

The woman taken hostage at the branch Monday was identified as Mrs. Richard Reynolds, head cashier and assistant manager of the branch. Three other women employees in the branch at the time were locked in the vault about 30 minutes before being freed in good condition, according to Charles Johnson, president of the firm.

The woman freed in Memphis was identified at Janet Westmoreland, 21, of Dallas.

A Memphis police spokesman said early today that they arrested the man and freed the Texas woman after stopping the car in a residential area in southeast Memphis about 10 p.m.

Kremlin May 'Go Along' With U.S. Ford Mtr. Co. Faces Probable Shut-down

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The Soviet reception of President Nixon, like the advance Soviet press treatment of the visit, gives the impression that the Kremlin will go to considerable lengths to prevent any look of failure for this summit.

It seems significant that President Nikolai Podgorny chose this moment to expand the Moscow litany about the need for better Soviet-American relations. Up to now the stereotyped sentence has gone: "Better relations with the United States are both possible and desirable, but not at the expense of any third country or people." Podgorny, speaking at a Kremlin dinner, made it read "not merely good, but friendly relations."

This is a curious time for Soviet leaders to be talking about "friendly" relations with an American president who has just ordered the mining of a Communist nation's harbors to prevent the flow of Soviet war material to North Vietnam.

But Podgorny stressed that the Russian leaders are eager for positive results. Evidently the men in control won't permit either Vietnam or the Middle East, the two main sources of tension, to damage chances. If they must talk about the two areas, they will. That's going to make their allies nervous, even though the Russians may be neither willing nor able to concede anything.

Leonid I. Brezhnev, the Communist party general secretary who is running the Soviet show now, lost no time in having a first meeting with the President. He may even be braving the meaningful scowls of party and military conservatives by displaying such eagerness.

Brezhnev and the Soviet media have built up a lot of hopes in the U.S.S.R. and abroad that the summit will contribute to eased tensions, however. The party chief most likely wants to deliver.

Astronaut Trains for Peace Corps

By TOM SEPPY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Astronaut Donn F. Eisele, command-module pilot of the Apollo 7 space flight, is in training to become Peace Corps director in Thailand.

"I've always been a big fan of the Peace Corps," Eisele, 41, said in an interview. "It is one of the most productive and most beneficial operations our government has."

Eisele, who will retire as a colonel from the Air Force July 1 after 20 years' service, said he thought about the Peace Corps when he began planning for his future after the military. He will take over the $29,000-a-year job in mid-June while on terminal leave from the Air Force.

"I believe that one of the principal deterrents to world peace is the privation suffered by millions of people in the world," he said. "If the advanced nations help others, sharing their knowledge and

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ford Motor Co.'s 1973 cars cannot be certified under current air-pollution emission laws, but Congress can change the laws to permit delivery before certification, a Nixon administration official says.

But, in the event the law is changed, Environmental Protection Agency head William D. Ruckelshaus told Congress Monday, Ford would be faced with a costly, large-scale recall if the cars did not meet emission-control standards.

As things stand now, Ruckelshaus said, Ford would be required to start testing 1973 prototypes all over again. He said new tests would take at least three months and will delay by that time the normal July starting date by which Ford is in full mass production for its next year's models.

This, Ruckelshaus told the Senate's air-and-water-pollution subcommittee, could cause shutdowns for three months and massive layoffs.

Ruckelshaus said the reason for the situation is that Ford technicians applied unauthorized maintenance on the fleet of prototypes being tested to see if they meet antipollution standards.

The tests involve driving the cars at 35 miles an hour for 50,000 miles. Ruckelshaus said certain maintenance can be performed, but not on antipollution equipment, according to air-pollution laws. He did not specify what the maintenance was.

Since the illegal maintenance was done in a very significant number of cases, Ruckelshaus said, the testing must be restarted.

Ruckelshaus said Ford executives reported the situation voluntarily last Tuesday after discovering it in checks of computer print-outs on the tests. The problem, Ruckelshaus quoted Ford as saying, developed when someone at a lower level in the company gave the order for more maintenance.

Visits Korea WIN AT BRIDGE

Defense Needs No-No Lead

MRS. JOSEPHINE ROGERS

By STEVE CAMPBELL

Mrs. Josephine Rogers, of Perrytown returned home from her trip to Korea, Friday, May 19.

Mrs. Rogers came to the States in December of 1964 leaving her parents, two brothers, and six sisters behind, knowing she would probably never see them again.

Out of love and friendship, Mrs. Rogers' many friends decided to give her a gift—a trip back home to visit her family. The project, which included love offerings, donations, and a pot-luck supper, was a complete success, as was the entire trip.

The many changes in Korea really surprised Mrs. Rogers. "I got lost twice in my old home town," she stated. Her family and friends were very glad and thankful to see her again, especially her mother, who stated, "I'm very glad to know you have such wonderful friends who care. . . and God helped too—praise Him!"

Mrs. Rogers is presently employed at Perry's Restaurant and is a member of the Providence Memorial Baptist Church.

Edith Kemp of Miami is the only woman besides the late Helen Sobel Smith to have won both the Vanderbilt and Spingold cups. She is a top teacher. Here is one of her hands for advanced pupils.

The first problem is to get to four spades. The second is to make it.

They won't if West opens the five of trumps, but that is an abnormal lead, while the king of clubs opening stands out.

South looks around for losers first and sees that he has to lose one club and two trumps. Can he hold his losses to those three tricks and no more?

It is a problem in trump management, since South wants to be able to play two rounds of trumps without giving the defense a chance to lead a third one.

He starts proceedings by ducking the first club and notes that East has dropped the deuce. It looks as if clubs will break 4-3. He wins the club continuation and makes the second key play which is a low trump.

It doesn't matter what the defense does from now on. South will be able to gain the lead and cash his ace of trumps. Then he can do almost anything except lead a third trump. Sometime or other, West will score a trick with his remaining trump, but that will be all.

Jury Fails To Reach Verdict

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The U. S. District Court jury deliberating the trial of three men accused in the beating of state Game Warden Paige Miller of Earle failed to reach a verdict before retiring for the night at 12:55 a.m. today, and was to resume deliberations at 9 a.m. today.

At 10:30 p.m. Monday, the jury reported to Judge J. Smith Henley that it was deadlocked, but he ordered them to continue deliberations.

Defendants are Garland Stokes, 44, and Billy S. Brown, 39, both of West Memphis, and Lanny Green, 30, of Hughes. They are charged with conspiring to assault a federal witness. Stokes also is charged with the actual assault, and the other two men are charged with aiding and abetting in the beating.

Designer's Fall Showing Big Hit

By ANN HENCKEN

Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Designer Oscar de la Renta's cheeks were polka-dotted with well-wisher's lipstick kisses Wednesday after his fall collection showing.

"I have four dresses from the evening I have to steal!" said a smiling tanned Christina Ford after the show.

"The color and style are out of this world," she said. The cardigan sweater, which was strong in his Something and Boutique collections, was treated with glitter stripes today. It matched sweater vests and long pleated skirts.

"The important thing about the 1972 silhouette will be its volume. Not bulk, but looseness controlled," said Oscar, bringing out a number of full, un-sashed chemise smock dresses in flowered satin chiffons.

His colorful caftans had volume, too. One billowed out to show a huge sequined butterfly, the theme of the collection, which is priced at $225 to $3,500.

"I bought Francoise a model of a butterfly in diamonds this year in Italy, and I had it copied," said Oscar.

His day clothes included red, green and blue plaid coats—the chemise in gray flannel—and the monotone look done best in a beige quilted jacket, sweater and suede pants.

The collection, especially for evening, was a bright melange of color and pattern.

At Geoffrey Beene, however, the clothes took on a quieter, more sculptured look.

The strongest shape in this strong collection was the harness jumper. It's worn with white-ribbed sweaters and head-hugging caps.

"I was very interested in the sweater look, showing the sweater to the maximum degree," said Beene following the show.

He took this new jumper idea straight through—from gray flannel jumpsuits to silk surrah evening dresses.

The harness pattern is stitched onto jackets—and traced over the bodice of a white silk surrah evening dress.

Helen and Sue Bottel The Generation Gap

A Good Year To Look PG

DEAR HELEN AND SUE:

What will those fashion freaks think of next? I read where the "pregnant look" is in, and one designer is even making a "pregnancy puff"—a satin pillow that ties around the waist and makes a girl look about seven months along when she isn't even expecting.

As a psychology major, I wonder if this has significance. Are women feeling guilty because they've shut down on baby-making, so they want to look the part without playing it? Surely they can't think this smocked blouse or full tent or bulging middle thing is attractive! Can they?—CAN'T BELIEVE I SAW THE WHOLE THING!

DEAR CBISTWT:

As another psychology major, I'd say that guilt doesn't dictate fashion. Besides, smaller families are the style these days, so who's feeling guilty?

What brought on the frontal bustle? Well, with minis and hot pants cooled, fashion designers needed a startler. I predict the Pregnant Look will get lots of mileage in magazine and newspaper blurbs, but it will get no further with customers than the topless swimsuit did about seven years ago.

DEAR CAN'T:

The PG look won't get far with me—or my unmarried friends—that's for sure! (Unless someone wants to scare the heck out of her b.f., or get helped across streets by boy scout types, or go on a "safe" cross country trip.)

What with "thin" in, I can't see why women would want to look like avocados on stilts, but I guess it's happened before: I read the other day that the padded front was very big 800 years ago. Maybe designers figure it's due for a comeback (or front).—SUE

DEAR RAP: I'm 15 and people call me "wild," but that isn't my problem. While I was living in New York with my alcoholic father, I got pregnant. I decided to keep the baby, but not the guy, so I moved out to be with my mother in the West. I had a darling little girl.

My baby's father found out where I was and he says she is as much his as mine. He and his father came to get her, and they've got "connections," so they might do it. Both my ex-boy friend and his father have police records, but they're pretty powerful in New York.

Can they take my baby away from me? I've been a good mother and we have a good home now with Mom.—WHAT TO DO? DEAR WHAT:

An unwed father has no legal rights to his child, unless (in some instances) he can prove he has paid most of its support. Don't let him stampede you.—SUE

DEAR WHAT TO DO: Ex-convicts who have "powerful connections" in the East are often "unwanted hoods" to Western law enforcement officers. If these people cause you trouble, contact your local police, and they may be leaving for New York in a hurry.—HELEN

DEAR RAP: Please tell us how we can get those Prisoner of War bracelets that have the name of a POW on them—and the money goes to help get the men home.—W.T.H.

DEAR W.: POW bracelets may be had by sending a donation of $2.50 (for nickel) or $3.00 (for copper) to VIVA, 10966 LeConte, Los Angeles, Calif. 90024. You will also receive a list of organizations serving to alert Americans to the tragedy of these war prisoners.

Your interest and concern is much appreciated.—HELEN AND SUE

Congress Says Pro Players Must Solve Own Problems

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Kemp, the first National Football League ever elected to Congress, has issued a call for pro football's bickering owners and players to solve their own problems without the help of the nation's lawmakers.

Warning that the "time is absolutely at a crisis," the Republican congressman from Erie County, N.Y., cautioned the owners and players assembled at the Pro Football Writers dinner here Monday night about congressional intervention.

The former quarterback for the Buffalo Bills noted that there were 20 to 25 bills pending in Congress dealing with various aspects of professional sports and emphasized that if pro football's problems "are not solved from within they are going to be attempted to be solved by congress. "The answers have to come from within the sport. The people on the outside do not have the same understanding or perspective about the business. The answer is not more laws. The answer is to have the problems handled within the business itself."

In calling for the owners and players to reconcile their problems—some of which deal with the option clause, artificial turf and the fining of players—Kemp noted that there are "more things that unite the players with the owners than not."

Kemp's remarks were made before all of the owners assembled here for the annual NFL meetings and came at the end of a day during which Ed Garvey, the executive director of the NFL Players' Association, appeared before the owners.

There was no public pronouncement of what Garvey had said to the owners.

The owners spent Monday in committee and today were expected to begin tackling some of the constitutional and rules changed that have been proposed.

One of the changes calls for a tie being counted as one-half game won and one-half game lost in the standings. Another change proposes that each team involved in a sudden death game have possession of the ball at least once.

ABA Most Valuable Player Named

By STEVE HERMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Freddie Lewis, a man whose confidence and abilities led the Indiana Pacers to their second American Basketball Association championship in three years, is a bit numb today.

The Pacer team captain was named most valuable player of the 1972 ABA playoffs Monday, an honor that "caught me by surprise."

The six-foot guard, who carried a 15.4 season average into the playoffs, was the shining light as the Pacers edged by Denver and Utah for the Western Division playoff title and then beat the New York Mets 4-2 in the championship best-of-seven series.

"I didn't think I would be chosen (MVP)," Lewis said slowly. "I thought maybe it would be (Pacer teammate) Roger (Brown) or Rick Barry" of the Nets.

The affable backcourt ace of the Pacers, called by Indiana Coach Bob Leonard "our steadiest performer," said he was speechless when first given the news.

"I didn't know what to think."

Frazier 10-1 Favorite

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Un-ranked challenger Ron Stander feels he has a special mission in Thursday night's 15-round heavyweight title fight against Joe Frazier.

"I am going to have to beat him, if I don't nobody will," the 212-pounder from nearby Council Bluffs, Iowa, said Monday after a 55-minute workout.

Frazier, however, is considered a 10-1 favorite to retain his title in the bout scheduled for 10 p.m. EDT at Omaha's Civic Auditorium. It also will be carried live by TVS on about 150 stations.

"I think he is one of the greatest fighters the sport has ever had," Stander continued. "I rank him right behind Marciano (Rocky)."

Stander again said his chances are excellent in the bout because the styles of the two are similar.

"I'll be in there all the way," predicted Stander. "It won't be like fighting Terry Daniels."

Stander was referring to Frazier's last foe. The champion knocked out Daniels in the fourth round to push his record to 28-0. Stander is 23-1-1.

Frazier, training across town in the Creighton University gym, completed his workouts for his seventh title defense.

The champion boxed one round with Jimmy "Moleman" Williams and two with Mike Boswell, then signed autographs. The session attended by about 150 lasted only 35 minutes.

"I am going to try to keep him resting for the next two days," said Frazier's manager, Yancey Durham.

Shot Putter From SMU Wins Championship

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer
FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Southern Methodist track coach Jim Parr and his shot-putter, Sammy Walker, took matters into their own hands at the Southwest Conference track meet Monday.

Parr and Walker arrived at Razorback Stadium, took one look at the shot put area and decided the final mark — 62 feet — did not offer enough challenge for Walker. So, they marked off a 65-foot stripe and Walker responded with a toss of 65-6.

"I wish now we had made it 66 feet," Parr said.

The put was Walker's best of the season and earned him his third conference championship. He won in 1969 and then again in 1971 after laying out a year to try football.

"He wanted to throw 65 feet today," Parr said. "He figured then he would be right on schedule to throw 68 feet in the Olympic trials. There are a dozen or more who can throw 65 feet but he's still coming."

Walker was not the only former champion to successfully defend his title during the first day of competition.

Ken Stadel of Rice repeated in the discus with a throw of 197-5, slightly more than two feet short of the conference record set by Randy Matson of Texas A&M in 1965. Jim Pearce of Rice won the javelin for the second straight year with a throw of 232-2, far below his winning toss of 241-3 last year. Although Rice led in the team competition after the first day, Texas appeared to be a shoe-in for the team title. The Owls had 26 points and the Longhorns 24 after Monday, but Texas qualified 18 competitors for today's finals compared to 10 for Rice.

After Monday's three events, SMU had 14 points, followed by Texas Tech and Arkansas with 12 each. TCU had four and Texas A&M 1. Baylor failed to score Monday.

"We got through the prelims in great shape," said Texas coach Cleburne Price in an understatement.

Texas qualified four performers in both hurdles events and the pole vault and three in both the 440 dash and high jump.

With only seven performers in each running event and sixth place worth one point, Texas may score in bunches.

Parr said after Walker's winning throw that he believed the 6-foot-1, 265-pounder can become a world class shotputter.

"He missed two months of work because of a motorcycle accident and it takes about two months of work to make up for one month you miss," Parr said. He said, however, that Walker "loves to work."

After each throw Monday, Walker would jog 20 yards to the football practice field and then sprint 30 to 40 yards

Three other tour regulars tied for second in the qualifying at Memphis. John Mahaffey, runner-up in the Memphis tourney last weekend, shot a 141, as did Bob Stanton and Johnny Pott.

Elsewhere, quarterback John Brodie of the San Francisco 49ers shot an even par 72 to share the lead in the first round of local qualifying at San Francisco. The second round will be played today.

Tied with Brodie are three pros, Dale Coodell, Mike DeLazier and tour regular Jim Wiechers.

In highlights of other local qualifying rounds, amateur Rick Ehrmanntraut shot a hole-in-one en route to a 71-68-139 to pace qualifiers at St. Paul, Minn. Ehrmanntraut aced the 185-yard fourth hole on his morning round at the 6,578-yard Somerset Country Club.

Jack Nicklaus, who skipped the Memphis Classic because of illness, continued to lead the year's money winners with $154,273.

New Coach Named

By ED SHEARER
Associated Press Sports Writer
ATLANTA (AP) — "It's going to take time and patience, but I think the fans here will go for it," said Bernie "Boom Boom" Geoffrion after being named head coach of the National Hockey League's new Atlanta franchise.

"I'm not saying we are going to win the Stanley Cup because we will have many young players," he said, "but we are going to try for the championship. I hate to lose."

Geoffrion, one of the NHL's all-time greats during his 16-year playing career with the Montreal Canadiens and the New York Rangers, was given the task Monday of developing a new ice hockey team in an area that has had little exposure to the sport.

The team still has no nickname and no players. Fans are participating in a name-the-team contest and Atlanta will choose its players next month in an expansion draft during the NHL meetings.

It will mark Geoffrion's second venture as a head coach in the NHL. He coached the New York Rangers during the early portion of the 1968-9 campaign before he was forced to resign because of a stomach ailment. He has served since then as a Ranger scout.

The 41-year-old former superstar ranks as one of the leading scorers in NHL history with 393 goals. He became the second player to score 50 goals in a season in 1961, the year he was named the league's Most Valuable Player.

Geoffrion, whose sizzling slap shot earned him the nickname "Boom Boom," led the NHL in scoring in 1955 and 1961. He played on seven Stanley Cup championship teams at Montreal.

Sanders Fires Course Record

the U.S. Open.

Memphis was one of 58 sites where local qualifying is being held Monday and today. Survivors will advance to sectional qualifying rounds at 13 locations June 5-6. In all, 4,252 golfers submitted entries for the U.S. Open, to be played June 15-18 at Pebble Beach, Calif. All but 36 will have to go through some sort of qualifying round to earn a spot in the field of 150 starters.

Sanders, who called his course record "kind of a stroll in the park," finished fifth in the Memphis tourney. That event was won by Lee Trevino, who set the previous course record with a final-round 67 Sunday.

Three other tour regulars tied for second in the qualifying at Memphis. John Mahaffey, runner-up in the Memphis tourney last weekend, shot a 141, as did Bob Stanton and Johnny Pott.

Elsewhere, quarterback John Brodie of the San Francisco 49ers shot an even par 72 to share the lead in the first round of local qualifying at San Francisco. The second round will be played today.

Tied with Brodie are three pros, Dale Coodell, Mike DeLazier and tour regular Jim Wiechers.

In highlights of other local qualifying rounds, amateur Rick Ehrmanntraut shot a hole-in-one en route to a 71-68-139 to pace qualifiers at St. Paul, Minn. Ehrmanntraut aced the 185-yard fourth hole on his morning round at the 6,578-yard Somerset Country Club.

Jack Nicklaus, who skipped the Memphis Classic because of illness, continued to lead the year's money winners with $154,273.

Open champion, shot a course record 66 at the Wheatley Country Club, then followed with a 68 at the Nassau Country Club to top qualifiers at Glen Cove, N.Y. at 134.

Les Kennedy, the 55-year-old host pro, shot a 76-68-144 to top the four qualifiers at the Pawtucket, R.I. Country Club.

Softball Winners

In Girls Softball League play Monday night, TG&Y Blue defeated TG&Y Green 11 to 8 in the Midget Division.

Butane Gas won over Harold Hendrix 14 to 9 in the Junior Division game.

Trevino Moves to Fourth Place

NEW YORK (AP) — Lee Trevino's second straight victory in the Danny Thomas Memphis Classic moved him into fourth place on this year's money winning list, the Professional Golfers Association Tournament Players Division announced Monday.

The $35,000 first prize raised Trevino's earnings for the year to $97,978. His victory Sunday was his 11th on the pro golf tour and his first since taking the Sahara Invitational last October.

Jack Nicklaus, who skipped the Memphis Classic because of illness, continued to lead the year's money winners with $154,273.

Baseball Winners

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Hardy Highland, Marvell, Dover and Sylvan Hills won first-round games Monday in the state high school baseball tournament.

Highland defeated Rison Woodlawn 8-0, Marvell whipped Lake City 16-1, Dover blanked Vilonia 9-0 and Sylvan Hills bounced Greene County Tech 11-0.

Steve Flether hurled a one-hitter as Sylvan Hills demolished Greene County Tech.

Millwood Fishing Report

The Millwood Lake report from the Corps of Engineers shows the pool elimination at 259.20 normal, with a discharge of 690 cubic feet per second. Two Tainter gates open one foot.

Three day forecast is steady with water conditions clear.

Bass fishing is fair in all areas on minnows and artificial baits. Crappie is good in all areas on minnows. Bream good on worms and crickets in Saline River areas, and catfish good in all areas on crayfish and sunfish.

Rick Hrip, a 25-year-old telephone traffic engineer, shot a five-under-par 136 to lead qualifiers at Pittsburgh. Hrip carded a two-over-par 73 for his morning round at the Shannopin Country Club, then came back with a course-record 63, seven under par, at the Highlands Country Club.

May Clubs Double; Montreal Wins 6-3

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer
"I had to do something after I dropped that simple fly ball to put us behind," Carlos May said. He did plenty.

But the Rangers tied it in the bottom of the inning, then May misplayed Elliott Maddox' routine fly in the fifth, setting up Dave Nelson's double that gave Texas the lead.

To atone for this sin, May capped a four-run seventh with a bases-clearing double that hauled the Sox to a 5-2 lead. The Rangers weren't through, though, scoring once in the bottom of the seventh, then going ahead 6-5 in the eighth.

So it was May to the rescue again, this time singling for his fifth run-batted-in of the game to tie it in the ninth.

The depot will be a busy place for three (3) days as it serves as Centennial headquarters. Many interesting things will also be on display, such as Indian artifacts, old guns, tools, antique furniture, soap making, quilting, basket weaving, blacksmith at work and an outstanding display of antique cars and farm equipment.

Columnist's Mail Reveals Interesting Facts

If the bill to keep Uncle Sam living in the style he has become accustomed to were divided equally among all his nieces and nephews, every living American—man, woman and child—would have to get up $1,023 each in the fiscal year of 1973.

Bright babies: What wouldn't a mother and father give to know in advance that their unborn baby would arrive mentally normal and not retarded? This may be ultimately possible through dosing with androgen, a male hormone. Medical researchers found that a high percentage of babies who received an excess supply of this hormone before birth later proved to be above average in intelligence.

Protesters Arrested at Pentagon

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 200 antiwar demonstrators were arrested at the Pentagon Monday, but protest organizers failed to muster a crowd large enough to disrupt activity at the giant military office building.

The demonstration had been billed as an effort to blockade the complex and prevent workers from entering but only a few protesters appeared during the morning rush hour.

The crowd massed outside the building swelled to about 1,000 by noon and about 100 protesters locked arms and moved suddenly to rush the Pentagon steps at mid-afternoon.

Officers on horseback quashed the drive and routed the remaining demonstrators. More than 200 were carried away in military buses and arrested on disorderly conduct charges, police said.

The case now goes directly to the federal Grand Jury for the Eastern District of Arkansas, whose next regional session will be in September.

The Internal Revenue Service complaint said Anderson "did unlawfully and willfully attempt to evade and defeat the income taxes due and owing by him and his wife to the United States of America" by declaring a taxable income of $2,322.30 for the year 1965, when his actual taxable income for that year was $10,631.48.

The complaint said Anderson computed a tax due of $341.57 for 1965, when the actual tax due was $1,683.67.

The complaint also charged that in preparing his tax return for 1965, Anderson reported $1,200 as income from the per diem allowance given by the state to legislators. The complaint charged that Anderson's actual per diem for 1965 was $3,052.

Anderson further reported "commission income" of $3,446.34 for 1965, the complaint said, when his actual commission income was $11,446.34.

Erroneous Report Issued

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Associated Press reported erroneously Monday that the National Peace Action Coalition was an official participant in the effort to block traffic into the Pentagon.

The Pentagon demonstration was sponsored by the Peoples Coalition for Peace and Justice, NPAC, which did participate in Sunday's peaceful demonstration at the Capitol, said it was not involved in Monday's action.

Tennis Tournament Opens

PARIS (AP) — With the 48 top players not slated to compete until the third round, the French Open Tennis tournament got off to a quiet start Monday.

Two Americans, Brian Gottfried of Fort Lauderdale, Fla. and Mona Schallau of Iowa City, Iowa were among the first-round victors. Gottfried came from behind to defeat Bernard Montreux of France 3-6, 6-4, 6-0, 9-7 and Miss Schallau edged Mrs. Anna Maria Pinto Bravo of Argentina 4-6, 6-2, 9-7.

Crowd of 515 Turns Out for KXAR's 25th Anniversary Party

SILVER ANNIVERSARY 1972 RADIO STATION KXAR

Mr. and Mrs. Haskell Jones, management team, admire anniversary sign backing up speakers' stand at KXAR's 25th anniversary party last Friday night.

Part of the crowd that filled the banquet area of Fair Park Coliseum.

Roy Anderson, 83, vice-president and one of the 10 local men who organized Hope Broadcasting Co. 25 years ago.

General Manager Haskell Jones, also a stockholder in the station, who presided over the banquet.

L.B. Tooley, now of Dallas, Texas, who managed KXAR up to 1960 when he resigned to go into the electronics business in Dallas, and was succeeded by Mr. Jones.

George T. Frazier, partner in Anderson-Frazier Insurance Agency, Inc., who was KXAR's first program director.

At left Hervey Holt, owner of Hamm Tire & Appliance Co., who was awarded a 25-year sponsorship plaque. At the beginning a KXAR newscast was sponsored jointly with B.R. Hamm Motor Co. but was later assumed by Hamm Tire & Appliance, and continued unbroken for the last quarter century.

Next to Mr. Holt is Alex H. Washburn, 72, president of Hope Broadcasting Co., receiving a plaque from General Manager Jones.

T. Tommy Cutrer, featured on "Music City, U.S.A." heard over the Arkansas Radio Network each week-day, at 1 p.m., who was the speaker at KXAR's anniversary party. He not only spoke but also sang along with his band.

Tom Longfellow, president of the Arkansas Radio Network, an honored party guest.
